Active portfolio management is a nice addition to your workplace savings plan.

As important as saving for retirement is, many of us just don't have the time, let alone the experience, to actively manage our own workplace savings plans.

Instead, we just put our accounts on autopilot—rarely making adjustments when the market or our lives change. So, we end up with portfolios that have more risk than we're comfortable with. Or we sit on the sidelines, missing out on long-term growth potential.

It doesn't have to be that way.

➤ Active portfolio management for your hard-earned saving(s).

Fidelity® Portfolio Advisory Service at Work is active management offered through your workplace savings plan.

Your current plan provides a wide selection of investment options to choose from, but your employer offers something extra: the opportunity to have a team of professionals actively research, manage, and rebalance your model portfolio for you.

And to gain the reassurance that it may bring.

Getting personal is important.

56% of participants' workplace savings¹ may not be appropriately allocated.²

Helping manage risk while looking for opportunitie(s).

With Fidelity® Portfolio Advisory Service at Work, first we get to know you and your personal situation. Then we look for opportunities to help you manage through ups and downs in the market, while taking advantage of long-term growth potential. In fact, actively managed accounts may be less vulnerable to market volatility, helping to provide a comfortable balance of risk and reward.

➤ No matter how you look at investment(s), active management could be right for you.

You're a do-it-yourselfer.

As a self-directed investor, you feel comfortable managing your own portfolio by researching funds. But adjusting your portfolio regularly can get complicated and time-consuming.

You set it and forget it.

You enjoy the simplicity, and understand the risk, of a target-date portfolio³ that automatically adjusts to a target retirement date. But you would prefer a more tailored approach (without, of course, the worry of managing it yourself).

You leave it to the pros.

You want professionals to actively manage your portfolio to help enhance returns based on your unique circumstances. You don't have the time to manage it on your own, and you'd like an approach that takes your personal situation into account.

You are not alone.

84% of participants want help investing their retirement savings.⁴

³ Target date portfolios are designed for investors expecting to retire around the year indicated in each portfolio's name. The portfolios are managed to gradually become more conservative over time as they approach the target date. The investment risk of each target date portfolio changes over time as its asset allocation changes. The portfolios are subject to the volatility of the financial markets, including that of equity and fixed income investments in the U.S. and abroad, and may be subject to risks associated with investing in high-yield, small-cap, and foreign securities. Principal invested is not guaranteed at any time, including at or after the target dates.

► Here's how active portfolio
management work(s).

We start by getting to know you.

With a managed workplace savings plan, we take a look at when you expect to retire, your tolerance for risk, and your current financial situation. Knowing you a bit better helps us find you the portfolio with the right balance of risk and opportunity for growth.

Then we continue to monitor and adjust your portfolio in response to market changes (and changes in your personal situation), so you stay on track.

Sometimes, it takes a professional.

71%

of workers agree that they do not know as much as they should about retirement investing.⁵

A comfortable balance of risk and reward.
